A special committee of the City Council has been in session daily for the purpose of making arrangements for letting contracts for the equipment and furnishing of the city hall and the high school building. HOUSTON COUNTY 30 HAVE HEALTH CAMP

The State Department of Education has fixed February 12, as Health Day for the schools of Alabama and the Houston county Medical Association has voted to join the Supervisor in a health campaign of one week, ending on the above date.

The following letter has been sent to the members of the association, assigning one school to be visited by each:

301 E. Lafayette Ave., Dothan, Ala., Feb. 1, 1915.

Dear Sir:

Upon request, the County Medical Association has voted volunteer professional services for rural schools, and as the State Department of Education has fixed February 12 as HEALTH DAY I am taking the liberty of asking you to visit—school, principal, at your convenience before the above date for the purpose of aiding in this health campaign.

That the work may be more uniform and definite, I would suggest the following procedure:

- I. Inspection of building and grounds.
- II. Lecture: School Hygiene.
- III. Examination of pupils.
- IV. Recommendations.

1. To teachers and pupils.

2. To parents of defective found (to be sent through teacher.)

In so short a time it will be impossible for me to accompany each doctor on his visit, but where preferred, will do so, if possible, upon application for engagement. Phone 302. The principal will be notified to expect you.

This work is so seriously needed that, though you are a very busy man, I hope you will be able to render this service. And thanking you in advance for this kindness and co-operation, I am

Yours very truly,
O. O. TOLLESON,
Superintendent.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY RAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Thickness.

Common garden sage brewed in a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous, remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Just a few applications will prove a revelation of your hair is falling, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, containing about 30 cents a large bottle of drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully glossy, soft and luxuriant.

FOR RACE SEPARATION ON WASHINGTON

Washington, Feb. 1.—A bill to separate whites and negroes in passenger vehicles in the city of Columbia was introduced today in the House of Representatives.

The committee report says that constant friction between the two races on street cars and that a bill to separate them would be a good thing.

HATS FOR WOMEN MORE EXPENSIVE; SAILORS POPULAR

Chicago, Feb. 2.—Hats for women are to be more expensive this year, if styles displayed at the convention of the National Association of Milliners here today are followed.

Hand work would be responsible for the increase, it was said. Hand made grapes and flowers will be the chief decoration of the late summer creations. Sailors or hats are to be popular, but a novelty, which is expected will be worn much, is a high hat fashioned like a man's opera hat.

Nothing Doing.

A looking agent for a chautauqua bureau visited a small town in the Middle West, says Everybody's. He called on a man who said that in order to introduce a chautauqua it would be necessary to see the most prominent man of the town. Together they called on the "first citizen," and the looking agent was introduced.

"Mr. Jones," said he, "I called to see you in regard to a chautauqua."

"It won't do a bit of good," spoke up the prominent citizen. "My wife and I have looked over all the catalogues carefully and have already decided on another machine."

Quack to Act.

"Don't you think that people are more sympathetic in the evening—especially at Christmas time?" murmured the young man as he sat in the dining room with pale Amelia, relates the Pittsburgh dispatch.

"Yes, perhaps so," shyly admitted the lady as she yielded her tapering fingers to his.

"Such a fine little hand," ventured the unmarried one at he held it reverently.

"Melia!" sounded a stentorian voice at the top of the stairs.

"What time is it?"

"I don't know pa," answered Amelia, a trifle nervously. "The clock isn't going."

"But I am," said the lover quietly.

HOW WILL JOHNSON ENTER MEXICO INTERESTS FANS

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 2.—How Jack Johnson will enter Mexico and by what route he will travel to Juarez for his fight March 4 with Jesse Willard was unexplained today.

It was learned federal officials were prepared to arrest him—he is under conviction in Chicago of violation of the Mann act—should he attempt to pass through the United States. Probators of the fight claim Villa has promised protection to Johnson, but no port on the east coast now is controlled by Villa. Occupation of Mexico City by Carranza troops would prevent him entering from Central America.

POWELL HELPS CONVENTION FUND

Manager Powell of the Palace has arranged a benefit for the fund being sought to defray the expenses of the Alabama State Sunday School Convention by presenting Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress at his playhouse Saturday, February 6, both matinee and night. Bunyan's masterpiece is familiar to all, but this is its first appearance in Dothan in moving pictures, and will prove a treat. The picture story itself is worthy of patronage, and when coupled with a movement to help Dothan it is all the more deserving of patronage.

It is funny how the clergyman will offer a bill that provides for the collection of a certain amount of money, and then make the statement that "It doesn't cost the State one cent." When any bill comes with it the right to go down into the citizens' pockets for the money, it may not be coming out of the pockets of the State, but when its citizens pay the cost, what's the difference?

Minor, of the Senate said in the humorist and you never know for certain whether he's for or against till he gets through. He offered the first joke bill, to the effect that all cherry trees should be cut down in Alabama to prevent the robins from getting drunk, and the Chair referred it to the wastebasket committee, and drove right on to the next.

COTTON WORK MILLIONS SHIPPED FROM SAVANNAH

Savannah, Ga., Feb. 2.—Two hundred and forty-seven thousand, six hundred and fifty bales of cotton valued at $4,704,000 left Savannah during the month of January for foreign ports. The freight charges will amount to nearly $2,000,000. The month was the heaviest in point of shipping of the season, and one of the biggest in the history of the port. Fifty-seven foreign freight-carrying ships visited Savannah in January.

ANOTHER DOETHAN CASE

It Proves That There's A Way Out for Many Suffering Dothan Folks.

Just another report of a cure in Dothan. Another typical case. Kidney ailments relieved in Dothan with Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. D. O. Trammell, 123 E. North St., Dothan, says: "For twenty years, my kidneys were in bad shape. Sharp, shooting pains darted through the small of my back and many times when I awoke in the morning, my back was so stiff that I couldn't straighten up. The kidney secretions were unnatural and sometimes everything turned black before me. One box of Doan's Kidney Pills cured me and although that was three years ago, I have never had any trouble since."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Trammell had. Foster-McIlhenn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Take a Tablespoonful of Sale's Backache or Bladder Dothan.

We are a nation of most curious and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative process slows and then the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys misbehave and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to urinate during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous indigestion, constipation, or rheumatism in the weather, get from your pharmacy about four cents of Sale's Backache or Bladder Dothan; take a tablespoonful of glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. The famous sale is made from acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with salts, on hand used for generations to stimulate sluggish kidneys, to free the acids in the blood, and no longer a source of irritation causing urinary troubles.

Just Sale's is the best kidney remedy; it is the only one that is so long used for generations to stimulate sluggish kidneys, to free the acids in the blood, and no longer a source of irritation causing urinary troubles.

A Suggestion that Brings Sadness.

Sadness.

Savannah News

It brings sadness merely to suggest that the twenty-fifth annual reunion of Confederate Veterans, to be held this year at Richmond, may be their last gathering. It soon will be a half century since the last shot of the War between the States was fired. April 9 of this year will be the fiftieth anniversary of the surrender of General Lee.

Fifty years is more than the average lifetime. It is but twenty years less than the proverbial three score years and ten, and since most of the soldiers of the Confederate armies were at least within two or three years of their twentieth birthday when they went to the war it is plain that the veterans soon will be very few.

And yet the South does not like to look forward to the time when they will be so few that the great annual reunion cannot be held, when the parade of the old men in gray will be participated in by but a handful. The veterans themselves face the future as gamely as they faced the armies of the north. They were ready to die for the South fifty years ago and are glad of added half century of life that has been theirs. Their steps may be slower, their carriage less erect, but the same old fire is in their eyes and will remain in the eyes of the survivors as one by one of their comrades drop out of the ranks.

The last great reunion! Whether it be this year or next or ten years hence it will be as sad as well as a pleasant meeting. The armies of the sixties melted into corpses, the corpses shrunk to divisions, the divisions gave place to brigades, and now the brigades are reduced to the size of regiments. Soon there will be but companies left and as the ranks thin and are closed up the once great armed strength of the Confederacy will be but a short line of men, all old, all still brave, all ready for the call that will leave behind them not one comrade, but only the memory of them, which their sons and daughters will keep ever green.

SENSITIVENESS ABOUT AGE.

Why is it that so many persons of the great majority of the human family, perhaps are sensitive and some times painfully sensitive about their age?

This is one of the characteristics of the average man or woman that we have never been able to fully comprehend or account for any sensible basis or reasoning.

Why is the average man or woman reluctant to tell his or her age? And why is it considered a breach of good manners to ask one's age? And why should one when asked such a civil question either dodge it or tell a lie about it?

Age is no disgrace to either man or woman, nor is it anything unnatural or that can be altered or averted. It comes alike to us all, and once accumulated years should be a matter of pride rather than something of which ashamed to be the man or woman who can be sixty and look fifty or forty may be well proud of the fact and be thankful as well, and yet those who may appear to be older than they really are need not be ashamed of it.

Being sensitive about one's age is almost as foolish as that other widely practiced habit of the human family—wearing shoes that cramp the feet.

But most of us—all of us, perhaps—are fools of one sort or another, and those who are run-down whenever the subject of age comes up have plenty of company.—Albany, Ga. Herald.

Most Useful Age.

Commercial Appeal.

All of the worldwide discussion that was brought on by the announcement of the Oiler theory, that after 63 a man should be chloroformed and put out of the way because his usefulness was at an end seems to be answered in the following clipping from the New York World:

"Investigation by keen men has shown that man's best work has been done between the ages of 60 and 70 years," said President E. R. Bryan of Colgate University, in an address before the Western division of the Oregon Teachers' Association. "Six hundred of the most important scientists, statesmen and old world famous men were selected," he said, "and it was found that only five per cent of them accomplished their world's work before the age of 40, 10 per cent between the age of 40 and 50; 20 per cent between 50 and 60; 35 per cent between 60 and 70, 21 per cent after they had reached the age of 80."

This selection, taken here and there, of 600 men of eminence is a fair test of the theory. It is wide enough to allow all kinds and classes of talent to enter and the fact that 35 per cent of those interviewed have done the big things of life between the ages of 60 and 70 should put new hope into every middle aged man in the country.

Dr. Oiler himself denies that he made the statement so often attributed to him. He maintains that what he did say was that "if at 63 a man had not made himself a niche in the world, had not accomplished anything, or laid any broad plans for accomplishment, he might as well be chloroformed so far as any great success was concerned, for the rising tide of younger men would trample him in the road."

This puts a new face on his theory, as it came to be called. But the proposition, as printed in the world, brought him a hundred times more sunlight and notoriety than his explanation. The words the interviewer put into his mouth stirred two continents with disputes and controversies, out of which came some most interesting statistics, among them

BODY AS A MACHINE.

How will total abstinence most effectively appeal to the boy in his teens? asks many a mother and many a teacher. The angle of vision most likely to interest him in that which emphasizes bodily efficiency. Hear what that experienced educator, Hon. Edward Hyatt, superintendent of public instruction for the state of California has to say about it:

"Many a boy, if he could look upon his body as a machine, could stand outside himself as it were and look at himself with the same eyes with which he regards his bicycle, would be made sensible of the danger, uselessness and utter folly of trifling with a habit that has overthrown millions of strong ones who thought it a joke until it was too late to see that death hid behind the mask."

"This is an age of mechanical invention. It is an age of comprehension, an intelligent understanding of mechanism, even by the very young. The boys of our year are thinking in constructive terms, of the relation of parts to other parts, of loss by friction, chemical waste, of chemical agents that preserve a machine and other chemical agents that ruin it. It is ours to shift this idea until the boy applies it to his own God-given body—than which there is no more perfect machine in all the world."

DIFFERENCE IT WOULD MAKE.

The Chicago Live Stock World quotes Mr. Charles F. Scott, ex-congressman of Kansas, as to some of the results if the annual liquor bill—nearly $70 per capita—were no more than it is in Kansas—$1.25 per capita. Mr. Scott says:

If the national liquor bill could be reduced to Kansas proportions, with the corresponding reduction in murder and assault and theft and the long catalogue of crime that follows in the trail of drink if the loss in efficiency through the use of alcohol could be stopped, if the heartache and heart-break, the wreck of lives of women and children could be saved—if all that could be done the minimum wage wouldn't matter, for women wouldn't have to work, and the railroad rate wouldn't matter, and there would be enough money to pay them, and the trusts wouldn't matter, for we could be so happy we wouldn't worry about them, and the currency wouldn't matter, for prosperity would be so general that we could thrive under any currency law."

EFFECT OF GREAT KIDNEY REMEDY IS SOON REALIZED

I feel it my duty to let you know what Swamp-Root did for me. I was bothered with my back for over twenty years, and at times I could hardly get out of bed. I read your advertisement and decided to try Swamp-Root. I used five bottles, and it has been five years since I used it and I have never been bothered a day since I took the last bottle of it. I am thoroughly convinced that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root cured me and would recommend it to others suffering as I did.

My husband was troubled with kidney and bladder troubles and he took your Swamp-Root and it cured him. This was about five years ago.

You may publish this letter if you choose.

Very truly yours,

Mrs. Mattie Gaudin,

Due to the inexorable law of commerce, quality and price must be given the first consideration in every important business transaction.

Good clothes and workmanship cost money and every intelligent buyer realizes that there is a price level below which it is dangerous to go.

You, therefore, see how important it is for you to consider all around quality before price.

We make it a rule never to sacrifice quality for the sake of price and after first determining how to make our garments as well as they can possibly be made, we then quote you the lowest consistent price for that quality.

Realizing the importance of using only the highest grade wools to conform with the fine quality of work, we have attained an enviable reputation for the excellence of our product.

Holding our customers' good will and saving their money is the basis of our years of success in tailoring to a veritable host of men.
